Showers turning increasingly wintry overnight Sunday and continuing Monday. Icy patches also expected to bring some disruption.

What to expect

- Some roads and railways affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

Further details

Frequent showers will affect the northwest of Scotland overnight Sunday and through Monday.

Falling snow will reach low levels away from the western coastal fringes by dawn. Some spots may see accumulations of 1-3 cm below 150 m, with more widely 5-10 cm above 150 m and 15 cm above 300 m.

Strong winds may also bring temporary blizzard conditions in association with the showers.
